Capgemini acquires TCube Solutions in the US to advance its portfolio of managed services for the insurance industry

This acquisition strengthens Capgemini's leadership in the financial services sector

Paris, February 16, 2017 – Capgemini, a global leader in consulting, technology and outsourcing services, announced today the acquisition of TCube Solutions, Inc., an Insurance IT services firm, the largest independent service provider specializing in Duck Creek Technologies¹. This bolt on acquisition fits into Capgemini's growth strategy to accelerate the transition of its business portfolio, particularly in North America.

TCube Solutions specializes in Property and Casualty (P&C) insurance software and services. Its offerings include integrated policy management, billing, claims operations, reinsurance management systems and data strategy capabilities. Established in 2007, TCube Solutions has built a 300 strong team meeting the systems integration and customer experience needs of insurance clients in North America and the UK.

"TCube Solutions prides itself on its deep domain expertise and the longevity of our customer relationships," comments Sam McGuckin, President and CEO of TCube Solutions, who joins Capgemini. "Our joining Capgemini will enable its broader customer base to benefit from our established solutions and services, as well as provide TCube's current customers the means to plan their transformational futures."

"TCube Solutions' growth trajectory and commitment to delivery makes it a natural fit for Capgemini," said Thierry Delaporte, Group Executive Board Member, responsible for Financial Services at Capgemini. "Their market leading services and skill set in Duck Creek Technologies' based offerings opens up new possibilities for Capgemini to address the needs of the insurance industry and our strategic client base worldwide. We are very pleased to welcome the TCube team and look forward to the positive impact of their deep industry experience and excellence in execution."

“We have worked hard to build a strong team with key skills and expertise that are in great demand in today’s fast moving insurance market,” explains Sabyasachi Patnaik, Delivery Lead, TCube Solutions, who joins Capgemini. “As part of Capgemini we are looking forward to helping a much wider base of clients build more agile insurance services to enhance their customer experiences.”
